

Abstract

Please replace the Abstract with the following Abstract:

Systems and methods are disclosed for identifying and transferring content to a plurality of content repositories. Schema can be associated with the identified content and both the content and the schema can be transferred to a plurality of content repositories by providing the content and the schema a virtual content repository that integrates the content repositories into a logical repository.